A NOTE FROM RABBI VALERIE

Forging a New Path

In January and February, our Torah portions come from the book of Exodus, a story we often think of as dramatic and decisive. Plagues. A sea split in two. Freedom won in a single, breathtaking moment.

But Exodus is also a story about beginnings. And beginnings are rarely clean or simple.

The Israelites leave Egypt not because everything ahead is clear, but because staying has become unbearable. And yet, even when a place is unhealthy, leaving it still involves grief. There is loss in every transition. Something is always left behind, even when what we leave behind was never genuinely good for us.

That truth feels deeply familiar. Many of us know what it is like to step out of a "comfort zone" that was never actually comfortable. To try to change patterns that no longer serve us: thought to move forward, the journey can feel exhausting and slow.

Sometimes it feels like walking through deep, shifting sand. Each step forward sinks under our feet. We push ahead, then slide back. The landscape around us looks the same no matter how much effort we expend. And sometimes we stop moving altogether, not because we don't care, but because we are tired; because change feels like too much work; because we simply don't have the energy.

There is wisdom, and compassion, in naming how we feel with honesty.

Changing patterns isn't only emotional or spiritual; it is physical as well. To change how we think or act is to form new neurological pathways. We have worn deep grooves in the old routes, and when we are stressed or depleted, we naturally default to the ground already prepared for us. The old path is familiar; it's easier to walk and even has sentimental stopping points. The memories, landmarks, and mileposts make us hesitate before leaving it behind.

Forging a new path takes effort and patience. And it often takes more time than we wish it would.

The Torah does not rush the Israelites through the wilderness. Neither should we rush ourselves. Exodus reminds us that liberation is not a single moment, but a long, uneven journey. Even standing still, at times, is part of learning how to move forward.

May we honor our own pace and trust that even slow steps count.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Our Board

Six months into my term as President, I would like to share an update about our Board activities, priorities, and commitments. It is a privilege for me to work with such a committed, talented, and engaged group of colleagues. We meet monthly, share ideas, agree or disagree with healthy respect and debate, and always strive for alignment -- even if not consensus.

We do our best to represent the interests and needs of our congregation, both our members and our guests. Topics range from the strategic to the tactical, from programs and events to processes that support our ambitions and goals of being a welcoming community -- one that ensures belonging for all. Above all, we endeavor to ensure that what we do is grounded in our Jewish values, a topic I've discussed frequently and is of greatest importance to all of us.

We have recently drafted a Code of Ethics that is under final review. We are planning a session to open the discussion and ensure training on Diversity, Inclusion, Equity, and Belonging. Leadership Development is an ongoing topic and an important part of our agenda. We plan for upcoming events to ensure that they are promoted, supported by volunteers, and meet the needs of our community.

Because much of this happens behind the scenes, I wanted to share a sense of these activities. I invite any questions or suggestions -- on this topic or any others. Volunteerism is core to our strength and success as a community. If you have an interest in getting more involved, I'd love to hear from you. I welcome the conversation.

Shalom,
Stuart Sadick

MUSIC NEWS

Music continues to be one of the most vibrant and unifying forces in our community. This year, our Temple is blessed with a rich tapestry of musical experiences that uplift the soul, deepen spiritual connection, and bring people together in joyful celebration.

Kol Ha'Lev, our beloved singing group, continues to work on new repertoire and takes part in our Friday night services with beautiful performances every other month, adding warmth and heartfelt expression to our prayer.

On January 17, we are thrilled to welcome back our cherished High Holidays pianist, Maxim Lubarsky, who will join an extraordinary group of musicians for a special evening of jazz interpretations of songs written by Jewish songwriters. It promises to be a night of creativity, artistry, and pure musical joy.

On March 14, we will host Berkalit, a remarkable Jewish a cappella group known for their energy, skill, and fresh interpretations of Jewish music.

Our monthly gathering, Be'yachad: Sacred Sounds, continues to flourish. Alongside Rabbi Valerie and me, Ron Druyan and Tutti Druyan help lead the evening, with a different guest musician featured each month. This series brings a meditative and soulful dimension to our musical life, inviting us to listen and sing with open hearts.

Bridges, our vibrant program for young adults ages 20–40, is growing as well. Each gathering begins with a very tasty dinner, followed by a conversational and spiritually engaging service led by Rabbi Valerie and myself, with Ron, Tutti, and a guest musician. These evenings offer a warm space to connect, reflect, and build community.

Looking ahead, on May 30, we are excited to again host a Choir and Singing Group Night, welcoming ensembles from across Massachusetts and beyond, including our own Kol Ha'Lev, for an inspiring celebration of communal song.

Music opens our hearts. It transcends language. It comforts, uplifts, and brings light into our lives. I feel deeply grateful for the privilege of sharing these extraordinary musical experiences with you, and for the generosity of a dedicated donor who makes these events, and many more to come, possible.

Please join us throughout the year and experience the joy, connection, and spiritual richness that music brings to our Temple family.

Always your,
Gitit

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL AND YOUTH NEWS

Shalom from our Religious School!

Happy New Year! We hope 2026 brings sweetness, health, and moments of meaningful connection for you and your loved ones. As we begin the winter months, our Hebrew School community at Temple Emanuel Sinai is filled with warmth, learning, and joy. Here's what's been happening and what's coming up!

K-2: Torah Stories & Kindness

Our youngest students have been exploring early Torah stories and discovering Jewish values like chesed (kindness) and shmirat habriyah (caring for creation). Through songs, crafts, and storytelling, students are building a foundation of Jewish identity and Hebrew vocabulary.

Grades 3-5: Jewish Heroes & Holiday Exploration

Students are learning about heroes from Jewish history and the Torah while practicing how these values show up in their own lives. We're also continuing to strengthen Hebrew reading skills through small-group work and engaging language games.

Grades 6-7: B'nei Mitzvah Journey

Our older students are deepening their understanding of prayer, Torah, and personal responsibility as they prepare for their B'nei Mitzvah. They're also participating in meaningful discussions about Jewish ethics and what it means to be part of a sacred community.

Tu BiShvat Celebration

Tu BiShvat is the Birthday of the Trees! Activities in our school will include planting projects, fruit tastings, and learning about environmental stewardship from a Jewish perspective.

Highlights from Our Classrooms

- Classes discussed ways we can bring more acts of kindness into our community and homes.
- Hebrew reading groups have been showing impressive growth — keep up the practice!
- Our older students began writing reflections on what becoming a B'nei Mitzvah means to them.

Our Temple Emanuel Sinai Religious School is thriving because of the energy, curiosity, and kindness your children bring to our community each week. We are grateful for your partnership and support as we guide our students in discovering the beauty of Jewish learning and living.

Wishing you warmth, peace, and light throughout these winter months,

Talia

BAR MITZVAH - JANUARY 3

Joshua Enoch Baigelman

Son of Abby and Rob Baigelman

Joshua is very active in Taekwondo. He is currently a red belt and is part of his schools Demo and Poomsea teams in addition to his regular belt level classes. As part of their Leadership Team, he assists with the other belt level classes and loves working with the younger kids during their school vacation camps. Joshua also loves reading, his hip hop dance classes and playing with our two dogs!

BAT MITZVAH - MARCH 7

Olivia Grace Gelardi

Daughter of Heather and Bill Gelardi

Olivia is a seventh grader at Charlton Middle School. As a talented member of the award-winning Show Choir Team "Mirage," Olivia travels throughout New England competing at the highest level. Her leadership extends beyond the stage as an active member of the student council.

This past spring, Olivia captivated audiences in her starring role as Mal in the school's production of Descendants: The Musical, and she's already preparing for her next performance this spring in Beetlejuice Jr.

When she's not performing or serving her school community, you can find Olivia hitting the slopes, on the softball diamond, or enjoying time with friends.

B'NAI MITZVAH THOUGHTS

A few years ago, I consulted Rabbi Google to learn when Chaye Sarah would be read in 2025, the year I would turn 83. To my surprise and delight, it would be on my 83rd birthday, November 15th. I asked Rabbi Valerie to reserve the date for me. In 1955, I had chanted Chaye Sarah in my family's Shul in Milton, MA and if I would ever have a second Bar Mitzvah, that, for sure, would be the date. Obviously physical and mental health would have to hold up for me to be able to pull it off.

I started working with Rabbi Valerie last Spring. She introduced me to "TropeTrainer", a web-based program that helps one learn to chant Torah and Haftorah. What a change from the 78 rpm record I used 70 years ago!

Thanks to Rabbi Valerie's pushing, prodding and help, and a lot of practice, practice, practice, I was able to chant the maftir Aliyah and a portion of the Haftorah. While I was certain that I would never even attempt to read the Haftorah from a scroll, Rabbi Valerie showed me that I could! And I did! I was able to lead much of the worship service.

Together, we were able to design elements of the service to include family in a very meaningful way. The Torah passing I'dor v dor that is part of Bar/Bat Mitzvah services was done in reverse, passing the Torah from the youngest to the oldest, signifying how we teach but we also learn. Several members of my family participated in the service. My wife Judy, our grandson Theo and our nephew Ian all read Torah. Our children and grandchildren led parts of the service. Everyone welcomed the opportunity to be part of the day! Judy gave me a very meaningful and lovely 'charge'. And Judy and nephew Rick Gansler put together an amazing book of tributes from family and dear friends that I will cherish always.

What is the take-away from this amazing experience?

- I pushed myself to achieve what I never thought I could. That's not something we expect as we enter our 80's.
- I was able to express my thoughts about the lessons of Chaye Sarah and how they translate into our lives.
- It was a wonderful opportunity to gather family and community in a way for a joyous simcha.
- I learned, once again, what a wonderful, supportive community Temple Emanuel Sinai and the Worcester Jewish community is.
- I am truly blessed to be part of this family and this community.

Who is next???

CARING COMMITTEE

As the secular year winds down and we enter the season of gratitude and reflection, the Caring Committee remains dedicated to supporting our Temple Emanuel Sinai community. Whether through check-in calls or notes of condolence or congratulations, we partner with Rabbi Valerie in her pastoral outreach to ensure that no one feels alone.

The winter months can bring added challenges for some in our community. We are especially mindful of those who may be navigating illness, loss, or isolation during the holidays. We will continue reaching out with compassion, and we invite you to help us extend that care.

If you're interested in joining the Caring Committee or would like to learn more about how you can help, please reach out to us. Every act of kindness strengthens our community.

SOCIAL ACTION COMMITTEE

Social Action Fights Hunger

The recent federal government 'shutdown' with its impact on Food Stamps/SNAP and other nutrition programs made many of us acutely aware of the ongoing hunger crisis in our country and right here in Central Massachusetts. The TES Social Action Committee is encouraging our congregants and friends to join together in responding to the food insecurity crisis.

You can leave unopened and non-perishable food on the designated table in the TES lobby to give to food pantries through our partners at Rachel's Table. You can make or salvage home or restaurant or cater dishes including leftovers and donate those through Woofridge.org. Or you can make a financial donation by going to emanuelsinai.org. Once there click on "donations & payments", then "payments and donations portal," and then, under "type" click on "Food Insecurity Donation." This financial support is distributed regularly to trusted frontline agencies in our community. Any amount makes a difference.

We also continue our educational and public policy work most especially on ICE, immigrants, and refugees, on housing affordability, and on climate change and energy. The committee meets (usually by Zoom) on the first Tuesday of each month. For more information contact us at socialaction@emanuelsinai.org.
